Are You Ready to Graduate?

Seniors on graduation's threshold have many questions running through their heads. What are the deadlines? How do I sign up for boards? Where can I get a checklist of what I need to graduate?

Never fear! All of these and many more questions have been answered for you in the "Frequently Asked Questions about Expectations for 2014 Graduation" located in the ECO's senior dental forum, link.

GATORRATER

Online Faculty Evaluations

It's that time of year again. UF says to encourage student participation, faculty can:

1. Encourage students to complete faculty evaluations throughout the course by emphasizing data's importance.
2. Allow "early" final grade release after a percentage of the class have completed the evaluations (the UF recommended minimum of responses for 2013-14 is 50%).
3. Give students time in class to complete evaluations using their laptops, smartphones or other electronic devices.

NOTE: The UF Faculty Evaluation online policy does not allow offering student incentives such as extra points or extra credit.

UFCD's Complaint Form

It is important that health care professionals develop skills necessary to resolve interpersonal conflicts in a mature and responsible way. Sometimes, however, a third party needs to be called in to help solve issues and problems. When help is needed, students can access a complaint form located on our website under the "For Students" tab. Please note that once a complaint is filed, it can be withdrawn by the submitter. And also note that if a complaint is filed but there's is no follow up from the person who initiated it, the complaint will close.
