|        | achieve the goals by way of the strategies will be honed by the shared governance strategic planning committee. 2. Recognition for clinicians – Dr. Holliday           Some clinicians feel that at the faculty assembly, clinical faculty efforts are not recognized. Instead, we recognize research and other awards. Dr. Holliday asks what would be acknowledged or how? He asked the group what objective measure might be used to recognize clinical faculty? Dr. Garcia suggests focusing on published faculty awards within the profession from our website (e.g., selected to something, leadership recognition, ?)           The idea is to ensure that all leadership feel equally recognized. Dr. Gordan suggests having department chairs provide a listing to the FAB for recognition at the assembly. Prosthodontics and Operative division directors produce a newsletter to recognize their faculty. Dean Garcia suggested that we have no mechanism to capture the accomplishments of clinical faculty. Since there are so many other ways to recognize the individuals with research accomplishments, perhaps this activity is of less value and may need to stop at the assembly. |       |
